Unfinished Business State Killings And The Quest For Truth:

Unfinished Business Bill Rolston, Mairead Gilmartin, 2000 Over the period of conflict in Northern Ireland most victims of state sponsored murder have been unable to gain justice and their demise is soon forgotten These stories describe the awful truth of how the police and army get away with murder

Transitional Jurisprudence and the ECHR Antoine Buyse, Michael Hamilton, 2011-08-11 The European Convention on Human Rights has been a standard setting text for transitions to peace and democracy in states throughout Europe This book analyses the content role and effects of the jurisprudence of the European Court relating to societies in transition It features a wide range of transitional challenges from killings by security forces in Northern Ireland to property restitution in East Central Europe and from political upheaval in the Balkans to the position of religious minorities and Roma Has the European Court developed a specific transitional jurisprudence How do politics affect the ways in which the Court's judgments are implemented Does the Court's case law itself become woven into narratives of struggle in transitional societies This book seeks to answer these questions by highlighting the unique role of Europe's main guardian of human rights the Court in Strasbourg It includes a comparison with the Inter American and African human rights systems

Victims of Terrorism Orla Lynch, Javier Argomaniz, 2014-10-17 This book examines the politicisation of victims of terrorism and the reality of the victimisation experience within the broader field of terrorism and the resulting conflict Victims of terrorism are a unique group of individuals whose experience is overlooked in the current literature on terrorism Since 9 11 terrorism has risen to global prominence and has become a key topic of interest with regards to media attention and national security As a result many European countries as well as the USA have had to take active steps to protect and provide for the victims of terrorism particularly given the nature of victimisation post 3 11 Madrid and 7 7 London Recently we have also seen an increase in the political currency of the terrorist victim for example the lobbying activities and political involvement of the victims of ETA terrorism and the exceptionally powerful lobby in the USA that sees the involvement of victims of terrorism and their families in policy making and law enforcement transformations This book is based on extensive field work in Northern Ireland London and Spain and presents the results which focus on the needs and experiences of victims of terrorism and political violence and critically analyses these findings comparatively and in their own right The aim is to assess the provision of support initiatives in Northern Ireland mainland UK and Spain and understand if victims needs are being met by these initiatives but most importantly to construct a picture of the local and international interpretation of the experience of victimisation by terrorism This book will be of much interest to students of terrorism and political violence victimology criminology security studies and IR

Italy Today Andrea Mammone, Giuseppe A. Veltri, 2010-02-25 Italy Today represents one of the most comprehensive examinations of contemporary Italy It is a provocative and an innovative collection that aims to highlight the current crisis of the country through an analysis of several different dark shadows of contemporary Italian society Italy already had a long history of unsolved issues several chronic problems and contradictions that have been ignored for a very long time during which they have assumed dramatic proportions and gravity The peninsula has now become the Sick Man of Europe a country facing a veritable decline also caused by apparent incapacity and difficulties of the ruling economic political and social elites Discussions include an evaluation of the current predicaments of the political system analysis of emerging mafias including new powerful crime organizations such as Ndrangheta issues surrounding the ongoing presence of Fascism examination of the recent xenophobic tensions discussion of problems associated with the missed opportunity of the EU funding and the increasing regional economic gaps outline of the systemic troubles of Italy s economic and industrial system Written by leading experts in the field and covering a wide range of topics this collection is essential reading for all those seeking to understand the issues and problems that are facing contemporary Italy

Margaret Thatcher, the Conservative Party and the Northern Ireland Conflict, 1975-1990 Stephen Kelly,2021-01-28 The first woman elected to lead a major Western power and the longest serving British prime minister for 150 years Margaret Thatcher is arguably one the most dominant and divisive forces in 20th century British politics Yet there has been no overarching exploration of the development of Thatcher s views towards Northern Ireland from her appointment as Conservative Party leader in 1975 until her forced retirement in 1990 In this original and much needed study Stephen Kelly rectifies this From Thatcher s no surrender attitude to the Republican hunger strikes to her nurturing role in the early stages of the Northern Ireland peace process Kelly traces the evolutionary and sometimes contradictory nature of Thatcher s approach to Northern Ireland In doing so this book reflects afresh on the political relationship between Britain and Ireland in the late 20th century An engaging and nuanced analysis of previously neglected archival and reported sources Margaret Thatcher the Conservative Party and the Northern Ireland Conflict 1975 1990 is a vital resource for those interested in Thatcherism Anglo Irish relations and 20th century British political history more broadly

Making Peace with the Past? Graham Dawson,2007 This book explores the psychic cultural and political ramifications of memory within the Irish troubles It investigates the traumatic impact of the violence perpetrated since 1969 the antagonistic cultural narratives of memory fashioned and mobilized in this context within public and private arenas and the conflicts paradoxes and contradictions involved in coming to terms with the past both before and during the Irish peace process initiated in 1993 94 It traces the formation from below of competing public narratives one concerned with the ethnic cleansing of Protestants by the Irish Republican Army the other with British state violence on Bloody Sunday and analyses their subjective roots in specific experiences of fear and loss their role in ideological struggle and their complicated relation to private familial and individual remembering

The Dublin and Monaghan Bombings Don Mullan,John Scally,Margaret Urwin,2000 The Dublin and Monaghan bombings constitute the biggest unsolved murder case in the Irish State They account for the single greatest loss of life in any one day of the so called Troubles

Ardoyne Ardoyne Commemoration Project,2002

After Bloody Sunday Tom Herron,John Lynch,2007 After Bloody Sunday investigates the ways in which the events in Derry on January 30 1972 have found representation in photography film theatre poetry television documentary art installations murals music commemorative events legal discourse eyewitness testimony and pressure group campaigns Thirty six years after the killing and wounding of twenty six civil rights protestors in Derry the new independent tribunal chaired by Lord Mark Saville of Newdigate is close to publishing its findings The Report of the Bloody Sunday Inquiry promises to be the most comprehensive act of truth recovery yet attempted in relation to the many atrocities that scarred the North of Ireland during the three decades of political conflict Mark Saville has the formidable and perhaps impossible task of establishing the definitive truth of Bloody Sunday His attempt comes in the wake of many other earlier versions of the events of 30th January 1972 that have also claimed to present the truth of what happened that day After Bloody Sunday examines the portrayals of the events of January 30th 1972 and its devastating repercussions in photography film theatre poetry television documentary art installations murals commemorative events and legal discourse The authors consider their veracity their mechanisms of authenticity and their assumptions that a particular medium be it film or language or visual art can somehow articulate the truth of Bloody Sunday In the course of six thematically organized chapters the authors analyze productions ranging from high profile popular forms of entertainment such as Paul Greengrass s feature film Bloody Sunday and Jimmy McGovern s made for television film Sunday through to lesser known treatments in poetry Thomas Kinsella s Butcher s Dozen drama Frank McGuinness s Carthaginians and Brian Friel s The Freedom of the City and visual art The Bogside Artists and Willie Doherty They place special emphasis on the commemoration events held each year in Derry in which the families of the victims have over many years remembered their dead and injured while at the same time building a highly effective campaign that resulted finally in a new Inquiry Drawing on their expertise in the fields of literature cultural theory media studies and visual art the authors have produced a thoroughly interdisciplinary approach towards the many representations that claim with varying degrees of confidence to tell the story of what really happened on the streets of the Bogside on the afternoon of January 30 1972 The Canadian Journal of Irish Studies ,2003

Unmasking the Crimes of the Powerful Steve Tombs,David Whyte,2003 Despite the enormous economic physical and social impacts of crimes committed by states and corporations they are still relatively under researched within contemporary social science partly because of the perpetrator s ability to evade critical scrutiny The contributions in this book map out the parameters of a political economy of researching the powerful marking out the major problems encountered and identifying ways in which these problems might be overcome or circumnavigated To this end the book brings together original essays which reflect upon researching the powerful in Britain Canada Finland Ireland Spain Turkey and the United States Together these chapters advance our understandings of what corporate and state power is how this power operates and how it might be more effectively resisted Out of Time Laurence McKeown,2001 Books Ireland ,2001 American Book Publishing Record ,2001 11 września Phil Scraton,2003 Der Nordirland-Konflikt Johannes Kandel,2005

Killing Finucane Justin O'Brien, 2005 Centred on the murder of Pat Finucane an explosive and important expose which charts the extent and consequence of the British state's involvement in Northern Ireland's dirty war from the start of the Troubles and through the 1980s and 90s
