1939-45

HOME FRONT

Following the declaration of war in Sept. 1939, blackout was introduced - houses had to cover all windows and fans of public lights, and cars had to cover their headlights. Public air raid shelters were reserved and people took shelters in their gardens. Gas masks were issued for everyone, even babies and animals. Men aged between 20 - 42 had to register for service in the armed forces. It was also introduced, including women who worked on farms, industry or in the Army or in factories.

RATIONING

German submarines sank ships bringing food to Britain, so rationing was introduced. People were limited to how much they could buy of certain foods, such as clothes, medical and furniture. People were encouraged to grow their own vegetables and any spare food - this was called Dig for Victory.

Thousands hit Britain, resulting in almost 23,000 casualties. The Germans also designed another, the V-2, which was the first man-made object to enter space.
