Writing From The Center:

Writing in the Center Irene L. Clark, 1998 Landmark Essays in Contemporary Writing Center Studies Neal Lerner, Paula Gillespie, 2024-11-01 This volume collects essential writings in the field of writing center studies as it has blossomed and developed since the 1995 publication of Landmark Essays on Writing Centers. These writings offer a new generation of writing center readers provocative ideas and research based praxis on the topics covered in the book's four parts: Writing Center History, Critical Perspectives on Current Practices, Writing Center Research, and Writing Centers in New Spaces. Its provocative chapters discuss issues including student agency, collaboration, social justice, and marginalized populations, community engagement, and online writing instruction. Landmark Essays in Contemporary Writing Center Studies provides an up to date introduction to new students and a useful reference for long time practitioners. It is essential reading for undergraduate and graduate students in composition and education as well as writing center staff and directors. The Writing Center Director's Resource Book Christina Murphy, Byron Stay, 2012-11-12 The Writing Center Director's Resource Book has been developed to serve as a guide to writing center professionals in carrying out their various roles, duties, and responsibilities. It is a resource for those whose jobs not only encompass a wide range of tasks but also require a broad knowledge of multiple issues. The volume provides information on the most significant areas of writing center work that writing center professionals both new and seasoned are likely to encounter. It is structured for use in diverse institutional settings, providing both current knowledge as well as case studies of specific settings that represent the types of challenges and possible outcomes writing center professionals may experience. This blend of theory with actual practice provides a multi-dimensional view of writing center work. In the end, this book serves not only as a resource but also as a guide to future directions for the writing center which will continue to evolve in response to a myriad of new challenges that will lie ahead. Open-Access, Multimodality, and Writing Center Studies Elisabeth H. Buck, 2017-11-16 The disciplinary triad of open access, multimodality, and writing center studies presents a timely critical lens for discussing academic publishing in a moment of cruciblic change where rapid technological advancements force scholars and institutions to question what is produced and counts as academic writing. Using historiographic, quantitative, and qualitative analysis, Open Access, Multimodality, and Writing Center Studies sees writing center scholarship as a microcosm of many of the larger issues at play in the contemporary academic publishing landscape. This case study approach reveals the complex, imbricated ways that questions about publishing manifest both within the content of journals and as related to academics' perceptions as signifiers of disciplinary visibility, identity, and transformation. More than just reaffirming the conventional wisdom about these changes in publishing, that these shifts are happening and we do not always know how to pinpoint them, Open Access, Multimodality, and Writing Center Studies suggests that scholars in all fields, compositionists, and writing center practitioners be conscious of the ways they are complicit in maintaining barriers to accessibility and innovation. Building a Workplace Writing Center Jessica Weber Metzger, 2022-03-17 This practical resource provides guidance for writing professionals to sustainably tackle the organizational writing challenges of any professional environment. Rooted in applied experience, Building a Workplace Writing Center guides readers through the process of developing a writing center from assessing the needs of an organization and pitching the idea of a writing center to developing a service model and measuring progress. Chapters explore what a writing center can offer such as one-on-one writing consultations, tailored group workshops, and standardized writing guidance and resources. Although establishing a writing center requires time and a shift in culture up front, it is a rewarding process that produces measurably improved writing, less frustration with the writing and revision processes, and more confident independent writers. This guide is an invaluable resource for professionals across industries and academia, considering how to establish an embedded, sustainable, and cost-effective workplace writing center. It will be of particular interest to business and human resource managers considering how best to improve writing skills within their organizations.
