Beidler,2012-12-06 Taste receptors monitor the quality of all the food ingested They are intimately involved in both food acceptance and rejection The sensation of taste is also important in the regulation of many specific chemicals necessary for maintenance of the body For example disturbance of the adrenal glands results in a change in the intake of salt which is necessary for regulation of the sodium balance Curt Richter s early studies on specific hungers and preference thresholds initiated a large number of studies in this field The relationship between taste and food intake is now well recognized by physiologists psychologists and nutritionists Our current concepts of the neural coding of taste quality and intensity are largely based upon the classical paper by PFAFFMANN in 1941 Many subsequent single nerve fiber studies have added to our understanding In recent years Zotterman and Diamant have successfully recorded from the human taste nerves as they pass through the middle ear This allowed them to study the relationships between the response of taste receptors and the resultant taste sensation No similar feat has yet been accomplished with the visual and auditory systems The Moralisation of Tourism Jim Butcher,2005-07-08 Using a host of international examples Butcher examines what the advocates of new tourism see as being wrong with mass tourism looks critically at the claims made for the new alternatives and makes a case for guilt free holidays The Outlook ,1897 Enlightenment Travel and British Identities Mary-Ann Constantine,Nigel Leask,2017-04-15 Weaving together science history antiquarianism and art this stimulating collection of essays amply demonstrates Thomas Pennant s centrality to a broad range of British Enlightenment debates and discourses especially those relating to Britain s so called Celtic Fringe At the same time it underscores the epistemological importance of travel and travel writing in the late eighteenth century Carl Thompson Senior Lecturer in English St Mary s University UK Tourists, Migrants & Refugees Milica Zarkovic Bookman,2006 This book is unique in expertly linking three populations tourists migrants and refugees and forcing the reader to face the dilemmas and opportunities each poses for development in poor countries Linda Richter Kansas State University As travelers increasingly seek out the exotic wildlife and idyllic sunsets of the developing world a complex relationship involving tourism the migration of workers and the involuntary displacement of peoples has emerged Milica Bookman explores that relationship and the connection between population movements and economic development in third world countries Bookman s multicountry analysis demonstrates forcefully that tourism both induces migration and displacement and is enabled by them in a self reinforcing circular flow These population movements she argues likewise are both a cause and effect of economic growth They are not however a panacea for developing countries Throughout her study Bookman underscores the human costs of tourism led development emphasizing the need for greater attention to the social dislocations that it brings about Milica Z Bookman is professor of economics at St Joseph s University She is author of eight books including Ethnic Groups in Motion and The Demographic Struggle for Power and is the recipient of the Tengelmann Award for Excellence in Teaching and Research Contents Introduction Growth and Population Movements in Tourist Friendly Countries Tourists and Other Travelers Migrants and Immigrants Refugees and Internally Displaced Peoples The Circular Flow of Populations and the Global Economy A Man of No Taste Whatsoever M.E. Brown,2010 This is a brief account of the life and activities of an obscure provincial gentleman who managed to combine the role of country squire in Nottinghamshire with a life of fantasy in Cumberland As a wealthy eccentric Joseph Pocklington 1736 1817 was able to indulge his taste for rather vulgar display and while his buildings and exploits around Derwentwater attracted the condemnation of such worthies as Wordsworth and Coleridge nevertheless he contributed to the promotion of tourism in the Lake District and has left tangible proof of his passing in his houses which survive there Mountaineering and British Romanticism Simon Bainbridge,2020 This volume argues that mountaineering developed as a pursuit in Britain during the Romantic era earlier than is generally recognised and shows how writers including William and Dorothy Wordsworth Ann Radcliffe Samuel Taylor Coleridge John Keats and Walter Scott were central to the activity s evolution Poems of Today Alice Cecilia Cooper,1924 Taste Denise Gigante,2008-10-01 div What does eating have to do with aesthetic taste While most accounts of aesthetic history avoid the gustatory aspects of taste this book rewrites standard history to uncover the constitutive and dramatic tension between appetite and aesthetics at the heart of British literary tradition From Milton through the Romantics the metaphor of taste serves to mediate aesthetic judgment and consumerism gusto and snobbery gastronomes and gluttons vampires and vegetarians as well as the philosophy and physiology of food The author advances a theory of taste based on Milton s model of the human as consumer and digester of food words and other commodities a consumer whose tasteful subliminal self remains haunted by its own corporeality Radically rereading Wordsworth s feeding mind Lamb s gastronomical essays Byron s cannibals and other deviant diners and Kantian nausea Taste resituates Romanticism as a period that naturally saw the rise of the restaurant and the pleasures of the table as a cultural field for the practice of aesthetics DIV Travel & Leisure ,1977 Mountaineering Clinton Thomas Dent,1892 The Horticulturist and Journal of Rural Art and Rural Taste ,1872 Canadian Government Railways Employees Magazine ,1923 A Question of Taste Maarten Maartens,1892 Edinburgh Medical Journal ,1897
