Open Book: What and How Young Children Learn From Picture and Story Books Jessica S. Horst,Carmel Houston-Price,2016-01-21 Looking at and listening to picture and story books is a ubiquitous activity frequently enjoyed by many young children and their parents Well before children can read for themselves they are able to learn from books Looking at and listening to books increases children s general knowledge understanding about the world and promotes language acquisition This collection of papers demonstrates the breadth of information pre reading children learn from books and increases our understanding of the social and cognitive mechanisms that support this learning Our hope is that this Research Topic eBook will be useful for researchers as well as educational practitioners and parents who are interested in optimizing children s learning Reading Development and Difficulties in Monolingual and Bilingual Chinese Children Xi Chen,Qiuying Wang,Yang Cathy Luo,2013-11-04 This volume explores Chinese reading development focusing on children in Chinese societies and bilingual Chinese speaking children in Western societies The book is structured around four themes psycholinguistic study of reading reading disability bilingual and biliteracy development and Chinese children s literature It discusses issues that are pertinent to improving language and literacy development and complex cognitive linguistic and socio cultural factors that underlie language and literacy development In addition the book identifies instructional practices that can enhance literacy development and academic achievement This volume offers an integrative framework of Chinese reading and deepens our understanding of the intricate processes that underlie Chinese children s literacy development It promotes research in reading Chinese and celebrates the distinguished and longstanding career of Richard C Anderson Giving Our Children a Fighting Chance Susan B. Neuman,Donna C. Celano,2015-04-25 This is a compelling eye opening portrait of two communities in Philadelphia with drastically different economic resources Over the course of their10 year investigation the authors of this important new work came to understand that this disparity between affluence and poverty has created a knowledge gap far more important than mere achievement scores with serious implications for students economic prosperity and social mobility At the heart of this knowledge gap is the limited ability of students from poor communities to develop information capital This moving book takes you into the communities in question to meet the students and their families and by doing so provides powerful insights into the role that literacy can play in giving low income students a fighting chance Important reading for a wide audience of educators policymakers school reformers and community activists Giving Our Children a Fighting Chance Documents how inequalities begin early and are reinforced by geographic concentration Compares community libraries to see how print is used in each neighborhood and how children develop as young readers Looks at patterns that create radical differences in experiences and attitudes toward learning prior to entering school Explores the function of technology as a tool that exacerbates the divide between affluent

students and those with limited access to information Provides a comprehensive analysis of community literacy documenting the transformation of media habits from books to computers Concludes with a look inside schools to answer questions about what schools can do to overcome this complex unequal playing field Susan B Neuman is a professor of Educational Studies at the University of Michigan and has served as the U S Assistant Secretary for Elementary and Secondary Education Her books include Changing the Odds for Children at Risk Donna C Celano is assistant professor of Communication at La Salle University in Philadelphia Giving Our Children a Fighting Chance depicts a stark reality the enormous and growing divide in literacy and reading skill development between children growing up in poverty and children from the middle and upper classes and the social and economic ramifications This book should be required reading not just for those in the education and policy fields but for anyone who cares about the lives of children and the health of our society Kyle Zimmer President and CEO First Book By walking the streets riding the buses and taking the subways Celano and Neuman give us a groundbreaking and sobering look at print and education technology resources in two neighborhoods one wealthy and one poor The result is a must read eye opener for anyone who cares about equal opportunity The stuff of learning is essential but insufficient Only with close teacher parent and student to student coaching can better print and technology resources make a difference Eugenia Kemble Executive Director Albert Shanker Institute The authors of this text make you CARE about these communities and children They provide insights about how we must focus on literacy in order to make a real difference in the lives of students This is one of the most comprehensive analyses to date of community literacy documenting the transformation of media habits from books to computers Linda B Gambrell Distinguished Professor of Education Clemson University
