Torture Chamber:

Torture and the Twilight of Empire Marnia Lazreg,2008 She explores the roles Christianity and Islam played in rationalizing these acts and the ways in which torture became not only routine but even acceptable BOOK JACKET The Secret of the Animal Fortress Nicholaus Rich,2012-09 In the vast emptiness of space lies in limbo a semismall planet The planet is peaceful and quiet Evil forces though has a different plan for this planet The planet is enchanted by a six shard crystal This ordinary looking crystal could form two more shards if needed The crystal is protected by mystical beings known as the Intercessor Watchers The Watchers are powerful but there are only five of them to protect this rare crystal The Watchers could feel that one day something or someone would try to steal the crystal They also know that whoever steals it will use it for their own purpose For generations they have protected the crystal by sending it through portals and time They would then follow it and replace it safely somewhere else Never has the crystal had to protect itself by scattering all the shards to different places to hide itself from evil Now in the far off reaches of space a very powerful villain lurks to capture the crystal The villain known as Master Sensea seeks a galaxy to conquer To do this he needs the crystal for its powers On the planet the five are not worried about anything happening One of the Watchers fears that something is wrong and knew they should have been worried Ghoul, Gimmicks, and Gold Kevin Heffernan,2004-03-25 The history of horror films and the horror film industry in the 1950s and 1960s Torture Chamber Ruth Hurst Vose,1986-01 The Secret Societies of All Ages and Countries Charles William Heckethorn,1897 Historical Dramas Tom Taylor,1877 The Contemporary Review ,1880 A Year of Fear Bryan Senn,2015-03-26 This eclectic overview of horror cinema offers up a collection of horror films for practically any occasion and literally every day of the year For example the author recommends commemorating United Nations Day October 24 with a screening of The Colossus of New York whose startling climax takes place at the U N Building Each day by day entry includes the movie title production year plot summary and critique along with a brief explanation of how the film fits into the history of that particular day and interesting anecdotes on the film s production Torture Chamber Drac Von Stoller,2012-09-27 Dr Worthington purchased Bentley Mansion with stolen money he used from the banks he robbed in another state The mansion itself seemed to exhale malevolence its windows like hollow eyes staring across the overgrown grounds its Victorian spires clawing at storm clouds that never seemed to pass The butler was part of the purchase of the estate as well though Worthington had other plans for the old man who knew too much The mansion had medieval torture devices kept down in the basement of the estate devices that still bore the rust brown stains of blood from centuries past mechanisms that groaned and creaked as if remembering the agonies they had inflicted The air down there was thick and fetid tasting of copper and decay and sometimes Worthington swore he could hear whispers echoing from the stone walls the death screams of long forgotten victims trapped in the very mortar He had a plan to pose as a doctor and lure doctors from the local hospital and have parties at his estate to show off his collection of medieval torture devices to his guests The irony amused him physicians dedicated to saving lives ignorant that they were walking into the den of something monstrous Sometimes he would put his guests in the devices and take their pictures to put in his photo album But lately the photographs weren't enough The hunger inside him was growing demanding more than staged photos and nervous laughter It demanded screams It demanded blood One day he decided he would have an all night poker game at his mansion on Halloween The perfect night he thought when the veil between the living and the dead grew thin when screams would be dismissed as Halloween festivities Dr Worthington called some of the doctors he got acquainted with at the hospital to see if they were interested His voice on the phone was honey smooth charming impossible to refuse He was able to talk Dr Brown Dr Stevens and Dr Tarington into playing He told them to dress in costumes because it was Halloween Make them good ones he'd said with a laugh they didn't understand Tonight we all play our parts Halloween finally arrived and Dr Worthington went all out on decorating the mansion with Halloween decorations but these weren't the cheerful pumpkins and friendly ghosts of suburban homes Grinning skulls lined the walkway their eye sockets seeming to track visitors as they passed Candles flickered in every window casting writhing shadows that moved against the drafts And hanging from the grand chandelier in the foyer was a collection of rusted chains that swayed gently creating a metallic symphony that sounded almost like distant screaming They all showed up around 10 pm It was storming outside sheets of rain lashing against the windows thunder rolling across the sky like the laughter of devils lightning illuminating the mansion in stark horrifying snapshots The storm only made Halloween night that much more special more perfect for what Worthington had planned The only thing his doctor friends weren't aware of when they showed up to play poker was that Dr Worthington was a sore loser and a thief He also wasn't a real doctor and the mansion he purchased with stolen money from banks he robbed Dr Worthington was a smooth talker and a very likable person and everyone he came in contact with believed his lies But beneath that charming exterior lurked something ancient and hungry something that had been waiting patiently for this night Dr Worthington welcomed his guests to his mansion His smile was too wide his eyes too bright When they all entered the front door slammed and locked behind them with a boom that echoed through the halls like a coffin lid closing The sound of the deadbolt sliding into place was final absolute Several of the doctors jumped at the sound laughing nervously Just the wind Worthington assured them though there was something in his grin that made their laughter die in their throats He escorted his guests to the room where they would be playing poker a vast chamber with walls lined in dark wood animal heads mounted on the walls with glass eyes that seemed to follow their movements The poker table sat in the center like an altar illuminated by a single overhead light that left the corners of the room drowning in shadow He poured each doctor some bourbon and whiskey but made their drinks stronger than his adding just a hint of something bitter that they couldn't quite identify but that made their tongues feel slightly numb
