The Research-Productive Department Carole J. Bland, Anne Marie Weber-Main, Sharon Marie Lund, Deborah A. Finstad, 2005 American society thrives on innovation which is advanced by the quality and productivity of research from higher education faculty It is therefore typical for the responsibility of nurturing and sustaining faculty research to fall upon department chairs and deans at postsecondary schools In The Research Productive Department the authors recognize the importance of this task and share tested strategies for facilitating quality faculty research and promoting an institution's overall vitality Many such books written for department chairs and deans have chosen to address the full range of leadership and management tasks that typically occupy this readership However few have narrowed their scope as this book does to the important leadership tasks that influence the overall success of academic departments in one critical area research This book features the experiences of nearly 40 leaders from well respected research institutions from across the country It offers specific useful recommendations for academic leaders seeking to promote high levels of research productivity including insight on recruitment practices mentoring programs reward systems culture building activities and the distribution of fiscal as well as human resources An eminently practical book The Research Productive Department provides readers with two essential tool sets a user friendly summary of over 40 years of literature on the characteristics of research productive organizations plus a wealth of descriptive examples of how these characteristics are actually manifest in a large number of research productive academic departments and schools This book is an engaging exposition of best practices that readers can adapt as befits their own institutional settings

Teacher Career Stages Peter Burke, Ralph Fessler, Judith Christensen, 1984 Literature on adult life stages and career development is synthesized and placed within the perspective of a career cycle model for teachers as adult learners The teacher career cycle is viewed as a progression affected by personal and environmental factors The stages a teacher's career proceeds through e.g. preservice entry growing stable exit are described as not necessarily linear but frequently cyclical Scenarios are given of the cyclical development of four teachers each of whom is required by circumstances to change or reverse directions to develop professionally Implications for inservice education include

- 1 Traditional inservice activities that emphasize improved teaching skills are appropriate at certain points in a teacher's career particularly during skill building periods
- 2 The concept of staff development and professional growth should be broadened to include concern for personal needs and problems of teachers
- 3 Organizational policies should provide support for teachers at various stages of the teacher career cycle and 4 Approaches to staff development and professional growth should emphasize personalized individualized support systems JD Proposal Planning and Writing Lynn E. Miner, Jerry Griffith, 1993 The style of writing is friendly It is not stuffy and certainly not formal There are numerous examples throughout the book would make a good addition to a grants office library The Grant Advisor This excellent self help book is for first time proposal writers and planners or for those who are without easy access to sources and materials The authors use a concise straight forward and topical approach relying on proven examples of how to find grants and how to plan write and submit proposals that get results The book also explores the information sources and technologies now available for locating federal foundation or corporate funding programs The authors share their streamlining techniques for submitting more proposals in less time A special bonus is the list of writing tips as well as a list of the most likely reasons proposals are rejected Organization, Goals and Objectives California. Educational Research Commission, 1970
