Understanding Human Nature, By Alfred Adler. Translated by Walter Beran Wolfe; Introd. by Leland E. Hinsie Alfred Adler, 1946 In Search of Human Nature Carl N. Degler, 1992-11-05 Winner of the Pulitzer Prize in History in 1972 and a past president of both the Organization of American Historians and the American Historical Association Carl Degler is one of America's most eminent living historians He is also one of the most versatile In a forty year career he has written brilliantly on race Neither Black Nor White which won the Pulitzer Prize women's studies At Odds which Betty Friedan called a stunning book Southern history The Other South the New Deal and many other subjects Now in The Search for Human Nature Degler turns to perhaps his largest subject yet a sweeping history of the impact of Darwinism and biological research on our understanding of human nature providing a fascinating overview of the social sciences in the last one hundred years The idea of a biological root to human nature was almost universally accepted at the turn of the century Degler points out then all but vanished from social thought only to reappear in the last four decades Degler traces the early history of this idea from Darwin's argument that our moral and emotional life evolved from animals just as our human shape did to William James's emphasis on instinct in human behavior then seen as a fundamental insight of psychology We also see the many applications of biology from racism sexism and Social Darwinism to the rise of intelligence testing the eugenics movement and the practice of involuntary sterilization of criminals a public policy pioneered in America which had sterilization laws 25 years before Nazi Germany one such law was upheld by Oliver Wendell Holmes's Supreme Court Degler then examines the work of those who denied any role for biology who thought culture shaped human nature a group ranging from Franz Boas Ruth Benedict and Margaret Mead to John B Watson and B F Skinner Equally important he examines the forces behind this fundamental shift in a scientific paradigm arguing that ideological reasons especially the struggle against racism and sexism in America led to this change in scientific thinking Finally Degler considers the revival of Darwinism without the Social Darwinism racism and sexism led first by ethologists such as Karl von Frisch Nikolaas Tinbergen Konrad Lorenz and Jane Goodall who revealed clear parallels between animal and human behavior and followed in varying degrees by such figures as Melvin Konner Alice Rossi Jerome Kagen and Edward O Wilson as well as others in anthropology political science sociology and economics What kind of animal is Homo sapiens and how did we come to be this way In this wide ranging history Carl Degler traces our attempts over the last century to answer these questions In doing so he has produced a volume that will fascinate anyone curious about the nature of human beings

Understanding Human Nature by Alfred Adler Alfred Adler, 1927 Recent Trends in Theoretical Psychology Henderikus J. Stam, Leendert P. Mos, Warren Thorngate, Bernie Kaplan, 2012-12-06 I was asked and alas with little reflection on the magnitude of the task thoughtlessly consented to take on the simple job of writing a preface to the collection of essays comprising this volume That I was asked to carry out this simple task was probably due to one consideration I was the main representative of the host institution Clark University for the 1991 ISTP Conference at which the talks foreshadowing and outlining the extended remarks here printed were originally presented and hence as a token of gratitude I was vouchsafed the honor of setting the stage It did not dawn on me until I began piecemeal to receive and accumulate over a period of months the remarkably diverse and heterogeneous essays precipitated by the conference how mind boggling it would be to pen a preface pertinent to such an aggregate of prima acie unrelated articles Typically prefaces to collections of essays from different hands are attempts by the prefator or a pride of prefators to provide an overview a concise map of the complex terrain which readers are invited to enter or to direct the attention of potential readers to what the editors take to be the essential or central themes of each of the variegated articles a practice which not infrequently and often not unjustifiably irritates and even enrages individual authors who object to the complexity profundity and nuanced character of their thought being reduced to clicMs and editorial equivalents of sound bites

On Human Nature Jonathan H. Turner, 2020-11-24 In this book Jonathan H Turner combines sociology evolutionary biology cladistic analysis from biology and comparative neuroanatomy to examine human nature as inherited from common ancestors shared by humans and present day great apes Selection pressures altered this inherited legacy for the ancestors of humans termed hominins for being bipedal and forced greater organization than extant great apes when the hominins moved into open country terrestrial habitats The effects of these selection pressures increased hominin ancestors emotional capacities through greater social and group orientation This shift in turn enabled further selection for a larger brain articulated speech and culture along the human line Turner elaborates human nature as a series of overlapping complexes that are the outcome of the inherited legacy of great apes being fed through the transforming effects of a larger brain speech and culture These complexes he shows can be understood as the cognitive complex the psychological complex the emotions complex the interaction complex and the community complex
