The New Social Policy Agenda in Asia Asian Development Bank, World Bank, 2000 This memorandum requests the immediate reallocation of a total of SDR8 1 million US 1115 million equivalent of Credit proceeds under eight operations to support the SARS and Infectious Diseases Response Program hereafter referred to as the Program The objective of the Program is to 1 address emergency needs for W and 2 support the Government's efforts to strengthen the capacity of the public health system more generally so that China's health system is prepared to combat the possible re-emergence of SARS and equally important similar infectious disease threats that might occur in the future. There are 3 program components. Component 1 supports program planning, coordination and policy development activities. Component 2 supports clinical management of SARS patients including setting up fever clinics, renovating designated SARS hospitals and wards, training female and male health care workers, strengthening personal protection measures for health care workers, providing emergency supplies, undertaking regular supervision and carrying out operational research. Component 3 supports disease prevention and control with a focus on SARS and other infectious diseases including strengthening disease surveillance and case reporting. The eight operations comprise the Environmental Technical Assistance Project (report no P6056), the Loess Plateau Watershed Rehabilitation Project (report no 12593), the Yangtze Basin Water Resources Project (report no 13674), the Southwest Poverty Reduction Project (report no 13968), the National Rural Water Supply Project (report no 16380), the Basic Health Services Project (report no 17403), the Fourth Rural Water Supply and Sanitation Project (report no 19226) and the Enterprise Reform Project (report no 19300). In all cases, the reallocations would neither compromise the original objectives nor the economic viability of the eight projects concerned. The respective Development Credit Agreement for each of the eight operations listed will be amended to add a new component covering activities to be carried out under the SARS and Infectious Diseases Response Program and to enable Credit proceeds to be used to fund the activities. For activities that will be carried out by provinces, agreements will be entered into with each province for the carrying out of such activities using the proceeds of the Credit.

Assets, Livelihoods, and Social Policy Caroline O. N. Moser, Anis Ahmad Dani, 2008. Given the pervasiveness of the informal sector and the lack of adequate universal safety nets, livelihoods of the poor depend heavily on their ability to access and accumulate assets, obtain decent returns on those assets, and use their asset base to manage risks. The papers in this volume discuss the strategies adopted by people to accumulate assets through migration, housing investments, natural resources management, and informal businesses, and consider how an asset-based social policy could enable those strategies or help them overcome the constraints of an unfavorable institutional environment.

Social Policy, 1970. Calculating Political Risk Catherine Althaus, 2013-11-26. Calculating Political Risk is rich and illuminating and much more than a political science treatise. Althaus draws on diverse literature, extensive interviews, and intriguing case studies to offer interdisciplinary, practical, and nuanced insight. This book provides new perspectives and more precise language for making sense of a critical dimension of politics: policy making and public management.

Evert Lindquist, Director and Professor, School of Public Administration, University of Victoria, Canada. This powerful new book is the first ever examination of the hard edge of how political risk, something faced by all political actors innumerable times every day, is calculated and used in decision making. It opens with an outline of the historical and linguistic origins of risk, the various disciplinary understandings of risk, the risk society concept, and how risk has come to be so prominent in the context of environmental disaster and terrorism The book then defines political risk and looks at its manifestations in the public sector from project to high level political risk It also looks at risk identification versus risk management and compares the concept of political risk with the private sector practice of risk management Unique research findings from interviews with over 100 risk practitioners and politicians provide a detailed look at how political actors calculate political risk Case study based chapters look in depth at neat and discrete examples risk calculation in state development plans in Australia political risk identification and management in the UK during the mad cow crisis and US government risk calculation in the post September 11 context The final chapters draw together the experiences and lessons learned from the case studies and practitioner insights to formulate a better understanding of what political risk is and what its calculation means in political practice The author shows how political risk calculation provides a fresh perspective on policy analysis and identifies how political risk is relevant to a broader understanding of politics and political science as well as policy formulation and implementation on the ground

Young People and Social Policy in Europe Lorenza Antonucci, Myra Hamilton, Steven Roberts, 2014-10-07 In Europe s current economic and socio political climate young peoples exposure to social risks is escalating This edited collection provides the first in depth analysis of youth as an important case for contemporary social policy By combining social policy and youth studies the book explores the effects of both the economic crisis and austerity policies on the lives of young Europeans This timely publication focusses on two fundamental contemporary challenges for European welfare states the changing conditions faced by young people characterized by precarity and social exclusion and the role of social policies and welfare sources in shaping youth transitions Through a unique combination of comparative studies and case studies studies conducted across Europe by leading experts the book covers a number of policy areas relevant to youth transitions including education labour market housing and social security policies This book will be essential reading for academics policy makers and students interested in understanding how welfare states are responding to the challenges faced by young people
