Urban Development In The Muslim World:

Urban Development in the Muslim World Hooshang Amirahmadi, 2017-09-08 War and revolution have focused the world's attention on the Middle East. Despite the headlines, the editors of this book state the economic, political, and cultural aspects of urban life in the Muslim world are hardly known to us. Contributors to this volume explore urban problems, urban development, and the practice of urban planning in the Muslim world. In both comprehensive analyses and detailed case studies, the contributors address the basic dilemma of development planning: how to integrate the force of tradition with the demands of modernity. Specifically, some of the topics covered include the examination of the idea of a uniquely Islamic city, the influence of Islam on the medinas of Tunisia and Morocco, and on the development of Mecca and Delhi, and reconciling tradition and modernism in Tehran. Also covered are the comparative development of Sana'a and Cairo, the influence of oil on urbanization in the Persian Gulf, urban growth in Syria, and an overview of urban planning in the Arab world. This compendium is essential for specialists and students of the region, for international planning and development practitioners, and for those seeking insight into the complexities of this important but arguably least understood region of the world.

Urban Development in the Muslim World, 2014 Urban Development in Historic and Modern Islamic Cities Ayyub Malik, 1977 Cities in the Pre-modern Islamic World Amira K. Bennison, 2007 This volume is an interdisciplinary endeavour which brings together recent research on aspects of urban life and structure by architectural and textual historians and archaeologists, engendering exciting new perspectives on urban life in the pre-modern Islamic world. Its objective is to move beyond the long-standing debate on whether an Islamic city existed in the pre-modern era and focus instead upon the ways in which religion may or may not have influenced the physical structure of cities and the daily lives of their inhabitants. It approaches this topic from three different but inter-related perspectives: the genesis of Islamic cities in fact and fiction, the impact of Muslim rulers upon urban planning and development, and the degree to which a religious ethos affected the provision of public services. Chronologically and geographically wide-ranging, the volume examines thought-provoking case studies from seventh-century Syria to seventeenth-century Mughal India, by established and new scholars in the field. In addition to chapters on urban sites in Spain, Morocco, Egypt, and Central Asia, Cities in the Pre-Modern Islamic World will be of considerable interest to academics and students working on the archaeology, history, and urbanism of the Middle East, as well as those with more general interests in urban archaeology and urbanism.
