how Hollywood responded to and reflected the political and social changes that America experienced during the 1930sIn the popular imagination 1930s Hollywood was a dream factory producing escapist movies to distract the American people from the greatest economic crisis in their nation's history But while many films of the period conform to this stereotype there were a significant number that promoted a message either explicitly or implicitly in support of the political social and economic change broadly associated with President Franklin D Roosevelt's New Deal programme At the same time Hollywood was in the forefront of challenging traditional gender roles both in terms of movie representations of women and the role of women within the studio system With case studies of actors like Shirley Temple Cary Grant and Fred Astaire as well as a selection of films that reflect politics and society in the Depression decade this fascinating book examines how the challenges of the Great Depression impacted on Hollywood and how it responded to them Topics covered include How Hollywood offered positive representations of working womenCongressional investigations of big studio monopolization over movie distributionHow three different types of musical genres related in different ways to the Great Depression the Warner Bros Great Depression Musicals of 1933 the Astaire Rogers movies and the MGM kids' musicals of the late 1930sThe problems of
