British Cruisers of the Victorian Era Norman Friedman,2012-10-29 Gradually evolving from the masted steam frigates of the mid nineteenth century the first modern cruiser is not easy to define but for the sake of this book the starting point is taken to be Iris and Mercury of 1875 They were the RN s first steel built warships were designed primarily to be steamed rather than sailed and formed the basis of a line of succeeding cruiser classes The story ends with the last armoured cruisers which were succeeded by the first battlecruisers originally called armoured cruisers and with the last Third Class Cruisers Topaze class all conceived before 1906 Coverage therefore dovetails precisely with Friedman s previous book on British cruisers although this one also includes the wartime experience of the earlier ships rn The two central themes are cruisers for the fleet and cruisers for overseas operations including but not limited to trade protection The distant waters aspect covers the belted cruisers which were nearly capital ships intended to deal with foreign second class battleships in the Far East The main enemies contemplated during this period were France and Russia and the book includes British assessments of their strength and intentions with judgements as to how accurate those assessments were rn As would be expected of Friedman the book is deeply researched original in its analysis and full of striking insights another major contribution to the history of British warships The Victorians: A Botanical Perspective Luís Manuel Mendonça de Carvalho,2024-09-28 The Victorians A Botanical Perspective Volume 1 offers a unique re evaluation of the Victorian Age and presents a new historiography based on plants It examines the use of gutta percha in the development of electrical measurements provides a detailed history of cocoa and the forced labor in the S o Tom and Pr ncipe Islands explores the beauty imagination and order of William and May Morris flowers uncovers the world of Charles Darwin and the Victorian Botany Culture highlights the crucial role of the Wardian Case in the global transport of plants reveals the connection between Mid Victorian Botany and Microscopy offers glimpses of the colonial collections at the 1862 London Exhibition explains how botany was connected with the development of photography evokes the desire for a return to Nature and a simple life and finally takes us on a journey through the history of violets Photography Ltd.
