Maria Louisa Charlesworth

The Night Will End:

The Night Will Have Its Say Ibrahim al-Koni, 2022-08-30 International Booker Prize finalist and one of the Arab world's most innovative novelists Roger Allen delivers a brilliant retelling of the Muslim wars of conquest in North Africa. The year is 693 and a tense exchange mediated by an interpreter takes place between Berber warrior queen al Kahina and an emissary from the Umayyad General Hassan ibn Nu'man. Her predecessor had been captured and killed by the Umayyad forces some years earlier but she will go on to defeat them. The Night Will Have Its Say is a retelling of the Muslim wars of conquest in North Africa during the seventh century CE narrated from the perspective of the conquered peoples. Written in Ibrahim al-Koni's unique and enchanting voice his lyrical and deeply poetic prose speaks to themes that are intensely timely. Through the wars and conflicts of this distant turbulent era he addresses the futility of war the privilege of an elite few at the expense of the many the destruction of natural habitats and indigenous cultures and questions about literal and fundamentalist interpretations of religious texts. Al-Koni's masterly account of conquest and resistance is both timeless and timely infused with a sense of disaster and exile from language the desert and homeland.

The Watch that Ends the Night Hugh MacLennan, 1959 George and Catherine Stewart share not only the burden of Catherine's heart disease which could cause her death at any time but the memory of Jerome Martell her first husband and George's closest friend. Martell a brilliant doctor passionately concerned with social justice is presumed to have died in a Nazi prison camp. His sudden return to Montreal precipitates the central crisis of the novel. Hugh MacLennan takes the reader into the lives of his three characters and back into the world of Montreal in the thirties when politics could send an idealist across the world to Spain France Auschwitz Russia and China before his return home.

The Cure Frank Beaumier, 2003-09-01 An exploration of a white man's obsession for a black woman a self-help method for the cure of sexual obsession and depression.
