The Stranger In Big Sur:

The Stranger in Big Sur Lillian Bos Ross, 1942 The Stranger Lillian Bos Ross, 1942 Big Sur Trilogy Lillian Bos Ross, 2012-04

The Big Sur Trilogy is the story about one of the last pioneer families in America who lived freely and self-sufficiently in a remote area of the central California known as Big Sur. The Trilogy spans over 100 years and depicts the hard but rewarding life of three generations of the Zande Allan family. The Big Sur Coast extends 100 miles from Carmel to San Simeon and is bordered by the Santa Lucia Mountains and Pacific Ocean. This remote wilderness contains some of the most rugged terrain in the American continent. From the beginning of time the south coast was accessible only by foot, mule, or horseback. Although inhabited by three nomadic American Indian tribes, the Spaniards refused to travel along the coast because of the high mountains, steep canyons, and dangerous water crossings. In the 1870s a partial wagon road was built from Mal Paso Crossing to Bixby Creek Ranch. The next 74 miles of the Big Sur Coast was not accessible by auto until 1937 with the opening of Highway One, which took eighteen years to build, mostly by convict labor using dynamite and steam shovels. When completed, it became the only road in the United States that went directly from a horse trail to an auto road, thus bypassing the traditional interim wagon road. The road changed forever the lives of the Big Sur homesteaders as the mainstream modern American culture motored into their once private coast. Before the road, few outsiders visited the south coast because travel was strenuous, the trail precarious, and the homesteads were few and far between, but those who ventured there were greeted with coast hospitality, lively conversation, and ranch-grown food. The Big Sur pioneer families worked long hours and full days with little time for frills or fancy things, and they had no patience for what was not plain-spoken. A trip to Monterey to buy supplies or to Salinas to sell cattle took three hard days by horseback along narrow trails at the edge of granite cliffs, often falling straight to the sea, some 2000 feet below. Twice a year the ranchers would gather for a coast barbecue with neighbors on the beach while waiting for the cargo schooner to arrive and winch ashore their load of hard stock supplies, too bulky for pack mule or horse. The second novel is named after Zande and Hannah's daughter, Blaze Allan, who took her headstrong ways from her father and her tender feelings from her mother. She was a beautiful young woman who could sit a saddle as good as any man on the coast. When her father demanded that she marry Joe Williams, whom she detested and rejected, one day she met a stranger on the trail and began to dream about him. A neighbor, Pete Garcia, teased Blaze into hunting Abalone on a remote beach, but once there, his interest quickly changed from Abalone to Amore. As a proper coast girl, reputation meant everything, and she rejected his advances. As the tide came in, they were trapped in the cove, and such an overnight stay was forbidden. Pete knew that folks would assume the worst and ruin her reputation, so he decided to swim for help. Blaze tried to stop him, but he drowned in the powerful surf. Pete's parents and even her own suspected she was now a ruined woman and blamed her for Pete's death. Joe Williams, her rejected suitor, spread the rumor that he had also been with Blaze. Devastated that her reputation was shattered simply by rumor, she fled Pete's funeral and rode to Monterey but once again she came upon the stranger who arranged for her safe passage on his tanbark cargo schooner In Monterey alone and hungry she struggled to survive by working for food and shelter but the town folks suspected she was a fallen woman who had been cast from the coast by her kinfolks After a shopkeeper tried to take advantage of her youth and beauty she bolted from Monterey and headed back to the Coast on foot where once more the handsome man of her dreams appeared on the trail and rescued her from herself The Gentleman's Journal ,1871 The Californians ,1986 California History ,2007 The SAGE Handbook of Case-Based Methods David Byrne,Charles C Ragin,2009-06-18 Case based methods have a long history in the social sciences They are extensively used and raise many practical and theoretical questions This book provides a comprehensive critical examination of case oriented research It offers concrete proposals about the best research methods and provides an unparalleled guide to the emergence and complexity of the field The Handbook Situates the reader in the essential theoretical and practical issues Demonstrates the unity and diversity of case oriented research through an examination of case based methods Distinguishes between case based and case study research Elucidates the philosophical issues around case based methods Examines case based work in the context of both social theory and theories of research methods Park News and Views California. psychology recognizes that an essential part of becoming a good therapist is developing a way of being that is healing. This makes the journey to becoming an existential humanistic therapist a personal and transforming journey. In Becoming an Existential Humanistic Therapist, editors Julia Falk and Louis Hoffman have collected the stories of 11 influential existential humanistic therapists including Kirk Schneider, Lisa Xochitl Vallejos, Ed Mendelowitz, Katerina Zymnis, Mark Yang, Myrtle Heery, Nathaniel Granger, Orah Krug, Xuefu Wang, Kathleen Galvin, and Shawn Rubin. As these prominent leaders share their stories of becoming, they also consider what it means to be an existential humanistic therapist and their vision for the future of this school of psychotherapy. Alongside these stories, HeeSun Park reviews two important research studies on becoming an existential humanistic therapist, while Falk and Hoffman highlight the central themes emerging from the narratives. Park, Falk, and Hoffman also share their own stories of becoming. The book concludes with reflective exercises for individuals considering pursuing a career as an existential humanistic counselor or therapist, as well as exercises for current therapists to reflect upon their own journey. Whether already an existential humanistic therapist wanting to reflect upon your journey or a student considering pursuing becoming an existential humanistic therapist, this volume is essential reading to clarify and deepen one's journey.

New Arrivals in Californiana, 1984 The Happiest Man Alive Mary V. Dearborn, 1992-07

Drawing on previously unpublished materials plus interviews with Miller's friends and associates, Dearborn provides the definitive biography of this important literary figure who came into the limelight in 1934 when his Tropic of Cancer was widely banned for its sexual passages. Miller became a symbol for the sexual revolution when the novel was finally published in the U.S. in 1961. 16 page photo insert Traveling Backward Elayne Wareing Fitzpatrick, 2009-07-06

TRAVELING BACKWARD is a highly original philosophic romp beyond the youth of old age with a quixotic journalist turned mom turned academic turned peasant. It's a kind of light-hearted guide to the wisdom of the ages from Socrates to existentialism and beyond, gleaned during a struggle to recover the images that first touched her heart and to answer two questions: Who am I really? Where does the world come from? It's a colorful, occasionally poignant journey that could help you look at life through the reverent eyes of a child again. GLIMPSES OF TRAVELING BACKWARD. You two remind me of Peter Pan. Trouble is I'm not sure which one of you is Peter Pan. Well, I was taken aback. But my mate took action. Muttering something negative about fairy stories, he headed for the door and disappeared down the hall. I started to follow him but changed my mind. Instead, I headed for the public library to reread Peter Pan. Had I missed something? Elayne Wareing Fitzpatrick. Human life, indeed, all life is poetry. It's we who live it unconsciously, day by day. Yet in its inviolable wholeness, it lives us, it composes us. We are works of art, but we are not the artist. Dare everything, need nothing. Lou Andreas Salome. I relate to Andreas Salome's passionate struggle for truth to her ultimate reverence for all life and to her desire to enjoy intellectual friendships with a variety of men, free of sexual overtones. Fitzpatrick. I was discovering that deep down, I didn't really take to popular culture crowds and bustling cities, regardless of my curiosity, regardless of my journalist's delight in writing about all of it. Fitzpatrick.

If you can't change the world, change worlds. St. Francis of Assisi. If I were ever to choose a place away from my country, it would surely be a Greek island outside Athens. In Greece, I feel completely at home. Maybe that's because, as the poet Shelley said, "We're all Greeks. Our laws, our literature, our religion, our arts have their roots in Greece." Fitzpatrick. Back straight and head held high, he would place his left arm on my right shoulder, snap his fingers, and lead me in the graceful, deliberate movements of the Zorba dance, accompanied by a recording of Mozart's 40th played on the bouzouki. This, against a backdrop of tinkling goat bells and singing monks gathered in a distant church. Fitzpatrick. Many of the highs and lows in my life have resulted from conflict born of the struggle between my own strong, loving, nesting needs and my equally strong needs for freedom to think, to adventure, to discover, to express myself. Fitzpatrick. All parts of this one organic whole, this one God, are different expressions of the same energy, and they are all in communication with each other, influencing each other, therefore parts of one organic whole. Robinson Jeffers. How did matter happen that makes the stars and cool planets and living beings? And how did the space happen that contains the stars and planets? Much is still very hypothetical. Much is still unknown. Much we will never know. Life is struggle, pain, and suffering. But it is also extraordinarily glorious creativity. Dr. Kai Woehler. Like Socrates, I've experienced an inner voice that usually lets me know when I'm about to go off track, and I've come to believe, with Kant, in a moral law within. Fitzpatrick. Nature, wonderful and awe-inspiring as it is, can't participate in a verbal dialogue, can't exchange and explore ideas with the human mind. We can relate to the animals, the birds, the insects, the fish, and the flora with our most primitive instincts and feel joy, spiritual ecstasy, in so recognizing our kinship. Yet nothing in Nature can compare with the human need for a warm
