Television Handbook is a critical introduction to the practice and theory of television. The book examines the state of television today, explains how television is made and how production is organised, and discusses how critical thinking about programmes and genres can illuminate their meanings. This book also explores how developments in technology and the changing structure of the television industry will lead the medium in new directions. The Television Handbook gives practical advice on many aspects of programme making, from an initial programme idea through to shooting and the post production process. The book includes profiles giving insight into how personnel in the television industry, from recent graduates to television executives, think about their work. The Television Handbook offers chapters on the vigorous debates about what is meant by quality television, how news and factual programmes are responding to interactive technologies, and how formats such as Reality Talent TV have risen in prominence. It also considers how drama, sport, and music television can be discussed and interpreted. The Television Handbook includes Profiles of TV news and drama producers, editors, and TV studio personnel. Case histories of important TV genres and series. Practical programme making advice. Explanations of key theoretical perspectives in television studies.

This practical sourcebook has been specially prepared to give you an at a glance guide to quality video program making on a modest budget. Emphasis throughout is on excellence with economy, whether you are working alone or with a small multi camera group. The well tried techniques detailed here will steer you through the hazards of production, helping you to avoid those frustrating time wasting problems and to create an effective video program. For many years Video Production Handbook has helped students and program makers in a wide range of organizations. Now in its thoroughly revised 3rd edition Video Production Handbook guides you step by step explaining how to develop your initial program ideas and build them into a successful working format. It covers the techniques of persuasive camerawork, successful lighting and sound treatment, video editing etc. You will find straightforward up to the minute guidance with your daily production problems and a wealth of practical tips based on the author's personal experience. In this extended edition you will see how you can use quite modest chromakey facilities and visual effects to create the magic of virtual reality surroundings. Gerald Millerson's internationally acclaimed writings are based on a long and distinguished career with the BBC. His lecturing background includes TV production courses in the United States and UK. His other books for Focal Press have become standard works in a number of languages and include his classic course text Television Production 13th ed, Effective TV Production 3rd ed, Video Camera Techniques 2nd ed, Lighting for TV and Film 3rd ed, Lighting for Video 3rd ed, and TV Scenic Design.
