Technological Change Methods And Themes In The History Of Technology:

Technological Change Robert Fox,1996 Technological Change gathers together examples of the best current thinking on methodology and the theoretical perspectives that are increasingly of concern to historians of technology whilst at the same time presenting other papers which reflect the state of the art in key areas of historical debate The volume emphasises the need both to establish a common forum for theoretical and empirical research and also to delineate the shared concerns of these two treatments which are too often reflected as conflicting rather than mutually supportive approaches to the writing of the history of technology

Technological Change Robert Fox,2012-10-12 In this volume scholars from these two very different traditions are brought together Never before has a single volume contained such a distinguished and diverse group of historians of technology

Conceptualizing Technological Change Govindan Parayil,2002 Technological change has been rightfully identified as the single most important factor for improving material well being Yet despite its centrality in our lives we seem to know very little about technology and how it develops and changes both spatially and temporally In this original and thoughtful book Govindan Parayil draws together current scholarship from disciplines ranging from history to economics to sociology as he develops a cohesive theory of technological change Drawing on a detailed case study of the Green Revolution in Indian agriculture Parayil convincingly argues that technological change is contingent upon the social historical process of knowledge change Thus he explores the policy implications of analyzing technological change as a problem solving activity An innovative contribution to the literature on technological change this ambitious book will also be valuable for those interested in such practical applications as understanding the process of technology transfer

The Real Agricultural Revolution Paul Brassley,David Harvey,Matt Loble,Michael Winter,2021 WINNER of the British Agricultural History Society s 2022 Thirsk Prize WINNER of the 2022 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title Award An investigation into farming practices throughout a period of seismic change

Tackling Transport Helmuth Trischler,Stefan Zeilinger,2003 In this book historians from museums and academia examine transport artefacts and the systems of mobility in which they are embedded Large artefacts such as the Stephenson's Rocket locomotive a Lockheed F 104 Starfighter a Ford Model T are impressive manifestations of engineering ingenuity They help museum visitors understand the design and use of the technologies that move people and goods But they are also historical icons so different audiences be they professional historians of technology or casual visitors will interpret them in different ways In a transport exhibition individual artefacts can dominate a visitor's attention overwhelming the themes expressed by other material The power of such an artefact helps to attract interest but at the same time endangers its incorporation into a larger system Curators have to find ways to demonstrate the systemic nature of transport by integrating these objects with others the smaller component artefacts such as electrochemical batteries pneumatic tyres and dashboards and the social artefacts such as drivers consumers rules and institutions The authors consider a variety of transport artefacts from pioneering steam locomotives and early automobile interiors to jet engines and the automatically guided cars of the future Those with curatorial responsibilities also reflect on how theoretical notions about transport can be expressed in the practical context of a museum and how a reappraisal of visitors responses to transport artefacts is leading to new ways of showcasing the history of mobility Dynamics of Technological Change Girifalco,2012-12-06 Technology is not an end in itself but a way of satisfying human wants It shows us how to solve the age old economic problem of surviving and prospering in a hard world But to optimize the benefits of technological advance requires an understanding of how it happens The purpose of this book is to provide some of that understanding The subject is so enormous and so intertwined with every human activity that a small selection of it and that from a special viewpoint is inevitable The selection of subject matter has been of course conditioned by what interests me and is somewhat heterogeneous However it is connected by two major themes The first is that it emphasizes the dynamic nature of technology in the sense that it must be approached as a process evolving in time that can often be described in quantitative terms The second is that I have chosen topics that I believe are essential for a strategic sense of how to plan for execute and respond to technological change These two themes complement each other because the strategic sense requires an appreciation of the dynamics and the dynamics naturally lead to a consideration of how to deal with technology so that it can be used to achieve human objectives The unifying thought behind the book is that technological change has a systemic as well as an idiosyncratic aspect Law and Society in England 1750-1950 William Cornish,Stephen Banks,Charles Mitchell,Paul Mitchell,Rebecca Probert,2019-10-31 Law and Society in England 1750 1950 is an indispensable text for those wishing to study English legal history and to understand the foundations of the modern British state In this new updated edition the authors explore the complex relationship between legal and social change They consider the ways in which those in power themselves imagined and initiated reform and the ways in which they were obliged to respond to demands for change from outside the legal and political classes What emerges is a lively and critical account of the evolution of modern rights and expectations and an engaging study of the formation of contemporary social administrative and legal institutions and ideas and the road that was travelled to create them The book is divided into eight chapters Institutions and Ideas Land Commerce and Industry Labour Relations The Family Poverty and Education Accidents and Crime This extensively referenced analysis of modern social and legal history will be invaluable to students and teachers of English law political science and social history Shaping Technology, Guiding Policy Knut H. Sørensen,Robin Williams,2002 This text analyses the relationship between technology and society It highlights both the policy implications of this relationship and possibilities for intervention by government policymakers managers and the public It examines and utilizes a variety of contemporary concepts which highlight the scope for local discretion and choice in the way that technologies are designed and used as well as the broader structures and systems that may serve to restrict choice By applying these concepts to an analysis of case studies of various social and technical settings the book explores their utility for understanding the ways in which contemporary technologies are developed and applied and how they are made to influence society Making Sense of Global History Sølvi Sogner,2001 Historians task has always been to make sense of the world This book presents selected papers dealing with the status of global history cultural contacts between the continents over the centuries the manifold construction and division of time and with the use and misuse of history worldwide Technology and Culture ,2000

Design and Production in Medieval and Early Modern Europe ,1998 Ways of Knowing John V. Pickstone,2000 This is a discussion of the historical development of science technology and medicine in Western Europe and North America from the Renaissance to the present By linking its development to the wider context of human society the constant changing process of human perception comprehension and manipulation of the world is revealed Four principal ways of knowing are identified within particular periods natural history in the 18th century analysis following the French Revolution experiment in the epoch of modernism and the current presence of technoscience John Pickstone balances the historical exposition of natural magic and natural theology with a philosophical interpretation of the Scientific Revolution and reflective comments on Foucault and Collingwood Current Sociology ,2002 Vols 1 4 contain v 1 4 of International bibliography of sociology

The Sounds of "radio" Shawn Gary VanCour,2008 Society for Industrial Archeology Newsletter ,1997 Religion and the New Ecology David M. Lodge,Christopher Hamlin,2006 For many years ecologists and the environmentalists who looked to ecology for authority depicted a dichotomy between a pristine stable nature and disruptive human activity Most contemporary ecologists however conceive of nature as undergoing continual change and find that flux of nature is a more accurate and fruitful metaphor than balance of nature The contributors to this volume address how this new paradigm fits into the broader history of ecological science and the cultural history of the West and in particular how environmental ethics and ecotheology should respond to it Their discussions ask us to reconsider the intellectual foundations on which theories of human responsibility to nature are built The provisional answer that develops throughout the book is to reintegrate scientific understanding of nature and human values two realms of thought severed by intellectual and cultural forces during the last two centuries Religious reflection and practice point the way toward a new humility in making the tough decisions and trade offs that will always characterize environmental management Ecology has experienced a major paradigm shift over the last half of the twentieth century This shift requires major rethinking of the relation of religion and environmental ethics to ecology because our scientific understanding of the nature side of that relationship has changed This book is the first to my knowledge that is meeting this challenge head on and it is doing so in an exemplary way J Baird Callicott University of North Texas Cold War, Hot Science Robert Bud,Philip Gummett,Science Museum (Great Britain),1999 Cold War Hot Science presents an authoritative history of post war British defence research as related to the establishments that now form part of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency DERA The agency includes such well known centres as the Royal Aircraft

Establishment at Farnborough the Royal Signals and Radar Establishment at Malvern and the Chemical and Biological Defence Establishment at Porton Down Collectively these have carried out a very high proportion of all the scientific research conducted in Britain since the war Study of these vast but traditionally secretive institutions is vital to understanding science in post war Britain BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved
