Voice as Art Richard Couzins, 2022-04-28 Voice as Art considers how artists have used human voices since they became reproducible and entered art discourse in the twentieth century The discussion embeds artworks using voices within historical and theoretical contexts in a comparative overview arguing that reproduction caused increased creativity moving from acting to creating phonic materials framed by phenomenological deep listening by early video and performance to the plurality and sampling of postmodernism and the multiple angles of contemporary forensic listening This change is an example of how artistic practice reveals the ideologies of listening Using a range of examples from Hugo Ball Martha Rosler Vito Acconci Bruce Nauman Janet Cardiff and Mike Kelley through to contemporary practice by Shilpa Gupta The Otolith Group and Elizabeth Price the voice is tracked through modernism and postmodernism to posthumanism in relation to speaking subjects sculptural objects documents dramaturgical utterance forensic evidence verbatim techniques and embodied listening This book gives artists researchers and art audiences ways to understand how voices exist in between theoretical discourses and how with their utterances artists create new dispositions in space by reworking genres to critique cultural form and meaning This book will be of great interest to students and practitioners of sound art visual culture and theatre and performance

Experiencing Time Simon Prosser, 2016 Our engagement with time is a ubiquitous feature of our lives We are aware of time on many scales from the briefest flicker of change to the way our lives unfold over many years But to what extent does this encounter reveal the true nature of temporal reality To the extent that temporal reality is as it seems how do we come to be aware of it And to the extent that temporal reality is not as it seems why does it seem that way These are the central questions addressed by Simon Prosser in Experiencing Time These questions take on a particular importance in philosophy for two reasons Firstly there is a view concerning the metaphysics of time known as the B theory of time according to which the apparently dynamic quality of change the special status of the present and even the passage of time are all illusions Instead the world is a four dimensional space time block lacking any of the apparent dynamic features of time If the B theory is correct as the book argues then it must be explained why our experiences seem to tell us otherwise Secondly experiences of temporal features such as changes rates and durations are of independent interest because of certain puzzles that they raise the solutions to which may shed light on broader issues in the philosophy of mind
