Winner Takes All:

Winners Take All - The 9 Fundamental Rules of High Tech Strategy Tony Seba, 2006-07-09 Winners Take All is about building a product and a company into a winner. Written by Tony Seba, a high tech entrepreneur and Stanford University lecturer, this book is an easy-to-read guide to the strategies, tools, templates, and step-by-step implementation frameworks that recent Silicon Valley winners have used to achieve market leadership. Seba, who teaches entrepreneurship and strategic marketing, looked at recent winners like Google, Symantec, Netflix, Apple, Craigslist, Salesforce, and compared them to the competition: Yahoo, McAfee, Sony, in order to learn what differentiated these companies. He found 9 really simple rules that winning companies can follow. To test the 9 Rules' predictive power, the author published two portfolios 18 months later; the results were compelling: 80% of the 9 Rules companies beat the market, and the portfolio had a 57% return. Details: www.tonyseba.com. Winners Take All is refreshingly free of buzzwords and consultant speak. Winner Takes All Heather Jones, 2002. Winner Takes All Selwyn D. Ryan, 1999. Beschrijving van de vele problemen bij de politieke systemen in het Caraïbisch gebied na onafhankelijkheid. Determinism and Self-Organization of Human Perception and Performance Till Frank, 2019-11-04. This book discusses human perception and performance within the framework of the theory of self-organizing systems. To that end, it presents a variety of phenomena and experimental findings in the research field and provides an introduction to the theory of self-organization with a focus on amplitude equations, order parameter, and Lotka-Volterra equations. The book demonstrates that relating the experimental findings to the mathematical models provides an explicit account for the causal nature of human perception and performance. In particular, the notion of determinism versus free will is discussed in this context. The book is divided into four main parts, the first of which discusses the relationship between the concept of determinism and the fundamental laws of physics. The second part provides an introduction to using the self-organization approach from physics to understand human perception and performance, a strategy used throughout the remainder of the book to connect experimental findings and mathematical models. In turn, the third part of the book focuses on investigating performance guided by perception: climbing stairs and grasping tools are presented in detail. Perceptually relevant bifurcation parameters in the mathematical models are also identified, e.g., in the context of walk-to-run gait transitions. Chains of perceptions and actions, together with their underlying mechanisms, are then presented, and a number of experimental phenomena such as selective attention, priming, child play, bistable perception, retrieval-induced forgetting, functional fixedness, and memory effects exhibiting hysteresis with positive or negative sign are discussed. Human judgment-making, internal experiences such as dreaming and thinking, and Freud's concept of consciousness are also addressed. The fourth and last part of the book explores several specific topics such as learning, social interactions between two people, life trajectories, and applications in clinical psychology. In particular, episodes of mania and depression under bipolar disorder, perception under schizophrenia, and obsessive compulsive rituals are discussed. This book is intended for researchers and graduate students in psychology physics applied mathematics kinesiology and the sport sciences who want to learn about the foundations of the field Written for a mixed audience the experiments and concepts are presented using non technical language throughout In addition each chapter includes more advanced sections for modelers in the fields of physics and applied mathematics Neural Network Learning and Expert Systems Stephen I.
