The Scorpion's Sting J. D. Masterson, 2011-01-04 With all my degrees and knowledge how could I have lived with my head in the sand for so long I m thinking of nicknaming myself Ostrich head in the sand backside flopping around in the air going around in circles tripping over my own long legs and awkward feet never getting anywhere at all it certainly seems an appropriate label especially given the latest mess I m now working my way through Dr Magdalena LaSige a thirty three year old criminal archeopsychologist throws herself headfirst into finding a kidnapped Carmelite nun the sister of her former professor The handsome and wealthy Dr Peter Janus She is given ancient pictures and symbols sent from the kidnappers clues in an archetypal trail of deceit The Pyramids of Giza DNA codes constellations medicine money these symbols stories and legends all combine to challenge everything Magdalena has taken for granted as truth And the truth seems to be the last thing Dr Janus wants to discuss What is his connection with the pharmaceutical companies he consults for and how does that play into the kidnapping is the scorpion s sting a medical project or something much more sinister Painfully aware of her limitations Magdalena uncovers religious medical and governmental lies while racing against time Will she solve the mystery or will the truth behind the deceptions leave Magdalena paralyzed by the scorpion s sting

The Scorpion, Or, The Imaginary Confession Albert Memmi, 1971 A composite philosophical work with a modern pretext and a very traditional questing spirit It concerns two North African brothers during the period of decolonization Marcel a successful pragmatic doctor and Emile a writer obsessed with the riddle of himself and his existence Emile has disappeared and Marcel charged with organizing a drawerful of writings is forced into reluctant intimacy with his brother s mind The chronicles stories and confessions seemingly random at first slowly disclose an order as levels of a single truth which Emile has attempted to reach and curiously as Marcel s resistance is overcome he begins to recognize the same impulse in himself past and present Their existential problem is symbolized by the scorpion in a game of torture when it can t escape a ring of fire it stings itself deliberately or accidentally in frenzy Fatally or to be briefly stunned And of the game itself and its spectators what are their motives and what is revealed Obviously it takes some nerve to venture into such areas as fully as Memmi does risking bombast dullness and not least a frightening degree of self exposure and that risk is not only the acknowledged heart of his meaning but a measure of his success As impressive as the honest intelligence is the fact that such a range and depth of
